Famous Coney Island Center To Go On Block

What well may be the final chapter in the long and colorful life of Feltman's, pioneer restaurant and amusement center at Coney Island, will be written on June 25 when the property is put up at auction, says the New York Times. The present group of owners, who brought the valuable business and the real estate from the Feltman family six years ago, announced plans to offer the vast enterprise to the highest bidder in a sale to be conducted by Joseph P. Day, Inc., on the site.

Involved in the auction will be not only Coney's biggest eating place but also about twenty boardwalk concessions, rides and amusement devices on a plot of about 137,000 square feet. The assessed valuation is $1,000,000.

The most interesting building in the group is the original two-story restaurant, bar and carousel structure fronting for 200 feet along Surf Avenue, where Charles Feltman started in business in 1874. Its arches are known to visitors from all parts of the country.

For more than half a century Feltman's has carried the slogan "Caterer to Millions." It did not apply in the beginning. Surf Avenue had not been developed then, and the restaurant catered to the "carriage" trade. The near-by attractions included P. T. Barnum and his enterprises, Jenny Lind and the boxing champions Bob Fitzsimmons and James J. Jeffries, who fought for the heavyweight title in 1899 at Coney's Seaside Athletic Club.

Tilyou's Steeplechase was to be followed in 1903 by Luna Park, built by Fred Thompson and "Skip" Dundy, and in 1904 by William Reynold's Dreamland Park. Feltman's, with its 4,000 gas lamps, its steaks and its own singers and podium, profited by all [illegible] staff was [illegible] 2 [illegible] nine separated [illegible].

Zionists To Keep After World Status

The question of official status and a charter for the Zionist Organization remained unresolved as the Zionist General Council, which is the supreme instrument of movement between Zionist congresses, wound up a week-long conference in Jerusalem and adjourned until November. The Zionist Executive, also know as the Jewish Agency for Palestine, will continue negotiations with the Israeli Government.

The General Council accepted as a basis for discussions the bill introduced in the Knesset (Parliament) May 5 by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion. This offered the world Zionist movement recognition as the authorized agency which shall continue to work in the State of Israel for the development and colonization of the country, for the absorption of immigrants from the Diaspora (the dispersion of Jews throughout the world) and for the coordination of activities in Israel of Jewish corporate bodies and associations which function in these spheres."

However, the Council suggested a series of amendments designed to make Mr. Ben-Gurion's draft measure conform more closely to what the Zionist Congress had requested in Jerusalem last August, according to the New York Times.

Mr. Ben-Gurion's bill fell short of what the Zionist Congress had asked for, mainly in two respects: 1. It offers recognition merely as "the authorized body," whereas the Congress had asked for a charter as "the representative of the Jewish people in all matters that relate to the organized participation of Jews the world over in the development and upbuilding of the land and the rapid absorption of its new-

62 Are First Doctors To Graduate In Israel

The Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School awarded degrees of Doctor of Medicine to its first sixty-two graduates. Following the reading of the Hippocratic Oath, the Dean of the school, Professor Aryeh Dostrovsky, handed out diplomas in the presence of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, Mrs. Etta Rosensohn, president of Hadassah, and several hundred visitors in the half-completed convention center in Jerusalem.

For Israel the ceremony meant much more than the turning out of sixty-two new physicians—it marked a long step toward meeting the threatening shortage of doctors and toward training a new class of professional men for the new state, says the New York Times.

As in most fields of intellectual and professional endeavor, Israel at the moment is adequately, even liberally, supplied with doctors. There are more than 3,000 for a population of 1,500,000, which puts the country's doctor ratio at well above the minimum of 110 per 100,000 population recommended by the United Nations' World Health Organization.

But Israel's doctors are getting old. The average age is more than 50, most of them being men who came in the wave of immigration from Central Europe after the rise of Hitler, or even earlier. Unless the training of new physicians proceeds rapidly, there will be a serious shortage in about ten years.

Dean Dostrovsky explained before the ceremony that Israel needed more doctors than most countries because the population was so dispersed. One of the hurdles Dean Dostrovsky had to negotiate before the ceremony was the opposition of some religious elements to the dissection of bodies.

"Now we have solved the anatomical problem," he continued. "A bill will be passed by the Knesset (Parliament) stating that persons who give permission before their death and who have no relatives who object may be dissected. The Chief Rabbinate has agreed that it is impossible to run a medical school without dissection and that it is important to dissect, for purposes of diagnosis of the cause of death. The medical school, of course, undertakes to have the bodies buried according to religious law."

Art Dealer Was Of Aid To Museums

Elkan Silberman, art dealer and connoisseur who had helped form collections for museums and individuals, died in New York at his home, 2 Sutton Place South. His age was 68. With his brother, Abris, he was a partner in the E. & A. Silberman Galleries, 32 East Fifty-seventh Street. Born in Hungary, he was descended from a family of art dealers who founded their firm in 1780 and operated galleries in Budapest and Vienna.

Generations of the family were art purveyors to the Hapsburgs, Hohenzollerns and other houses of European royalty and aristocracy. Mr. Silberman lived for some time in the palace of the Prince of Monaco, forming a collection of paintings and objects of artistic and historical interest that had belonged to Napoleon.

After the Russian Revolution, he was sent twice by the Austrian Government to select and assess works of art to be transferred from Russia to the Austrian Government in exchange for machinery, says the New York Times.

Mr. Silberman became a resident of the United States in 1936. He was instrumental in assembling the art collections of L. M. Rabinowitz, which was later given to Yale University; Booth Tarkington, and Dr. G. H. A. Clowes of Indianapolis. To Dr. Clowes, Mr. Silberman sold two of his numerous "discoveries": a Frans Hals self-portrait, which he found in the cellar of the Dresden Museum, and a miniature self-portrait by Hans Holbein the younger.

When Mr. Tarkington wanted to buy a Pontormo canvas, "Portrait of An Author", but said he lacked the money, Mr. Silberman suggested that he write a story about dealers. Mr. Tarkington wrote "The Gumbin Galleries," and "Portrait of An Author" joined the [illegible] brought many of the [illegible] and medieval art objects Mr. Silberman brought to the U.S. These included "Lucretia and Tarquinius" by Tintoretto; Rembrandt's "Christ Washing the Feet of His Disciples"; and Zurburan still-life, and a thirteenth-century painted wood crucifix by Berlinghieri.

The Toledo (Ohio) Museum purchased Durer's "Portrait of Mrs. Jobst Planckfelt" through Mr. Silberman. The Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art also used his services, reports the Times.

Besides his brother, Mr. Silberman is survived by his widow, Dolly; and a sister, Mrs. Gisella Lowy; who arrived in New York from Norway.

Warns On Fascism Rise In U.S.

Citing reports of a rebirth of Nazism and Fascism abroad, Rabbi William F. Rosenblum, preaching in New York at Temple Israel, 210 West Ninety-first Street, expressed concern over a possible resurgence of totalitarianism in these forms and their rise in the United States. He said he had heard among the onlookers at the May Day parade who jeered at Communists and their sympathizers, expressions of sympathy with the Nazi and Fascist philosophies, reports the New York Times.

"We are alive to the dangers of Communism," he said. "It is no longer a danger to this nation. But let us not forget that dictatorship, tyranny and oppression need not be Red. It may be Brown or Black."

Asserting that the latter forms were "already being smuggled into our land, he added: "It is something to make us think. It is no longer a political problem. It is a great spiritual struggle." In the United States, he said, the Browns and Blacks were "becoming more brazen and vocal." He attributed this trend in part to one of several "hate sheets" which he said had reached a circulation of 400,000, but he did not name it. He continued:

"Some here look forward, among leaders in industry and in the halls of the Congress and at the council table of the United Nations, and are willing to make common cause with equally materialistic philosophies and godless movements, such as Communism is found to be.

"In the modern world, geography is no longer important. Ideas travel faster than jet planes. If we wish to preserve peace, if freedom is precious to us, if faith in God and humanity has any significance, we must stand against the godlessness of the Browns and Blacks as against the Reds."

Was Gifted Teacher Of Writing

Dr. Theodore Goodman, Professor of English at City College, died in New York of a heart ailment in his home, 20 West Eighty-fourth Street. He was a member of the faculty for thirty years. His age was 57.

Through his courses in creative writing, he built a large personal following of students and former students. He was noted as a classroom teacher because of the warmth of his manner. The pungency of his criticism of inferior writing was relieved by his alacrity to acclaim meritorious work, says the New York Times.

A former pupil, Leonard Ehrlich, now a member of the English department, dedicated his novel, "God's Angry Man," to "Theodore Goodman—who from the earliest days gave me strength." Others aided by the professor were Jerome Weidman, Daniel Fuchs, Stanley Frank and Ben Grauer. A score of graduates of his courses have made their marks on New York newspapers and magazines and in the field of foreign correspondence.

It was typical of Mr. Goodman that the night before his death he attended at the college the John H. Finley lecture on "Reporting the Foreign Scene."

Dr Goodman was known affectionately as "Teddy." Many of his students returned after successful careers as writers to seek his advice and criticism.

Many from his early classes of freshman English remember vividly the wit and pungency of his teaching methods and his ability to make English literature come alive. Dr. Goodman was a chain smoker and many a student had his first glimpse of the English

Report Of Jews And Negroes Assails U.S. Inaction On Attacks

The American Jewish Congress and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a joint report assailed Federal, state and municipal governments for failure last year to take "forthright action" to eliminate discrimination and segregation and to stop illegal attacks against minority groups. The report said the failure was "hardly less inimical to our national security than actual subversion."

In a foreword, Dr. David W. Petegorsky, executive director of the Congress, and Walter White, executive secretary of the association, warned that "failure to take forthright executive and legislative action to eliminate these barriers is seriously weakening our moral and political leadership in world affairs."

"The propaganda of those who would destroy us makes our failures in the field of human rights loom far larger than our achievements, and the slackening of our pace toward the goal of equality is distorted to appear as a retreat or a repudiation of democracy," the two leaders said. "Too many in positions of power and authority refuse to recognize—or fear the implications of the recognition—that our ability to inspire the friendship of millions throughout the world is inseparably linked to our capacity to demonstrate increasing progress in human relations.

"Lawlessness, violence and terror to maintain existing inequalities, such as last year's riots in Cicero, Ill., the bombings, killings and vandalism in Florida, and incidents of police brutality in New York, Birmingham and other cities have consequences far beyond the struggle for civil rights."

The directors predicted that greater disorders were likely to follow, adding that by "permitting democracy to cease at the frontiers of race or creed or color, and lawlessness to operate with impunity in those areas of our social life, we are opening breaches in our democratic defenses which may well prove fatal and irreparable."

The report said an important factor limiting progress against discrimination last year was a

Social Notes — Montreal

(Additional Montreal Social Notes on Pages Two and Three)

Mrs. Ben. Silverman, Wilderton Crescent, entertained twelve guests at a luncheon for Mrs. M. Greenberg, Wilderton Crescent, who will leave shortly to take up residence in Toronto, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Rapp, Northcliffe Avenue, celebrated the barmitzvah of their son, Daniel, who was called to the Reading of the Law at Shaare Zion Synagogue. He is the brother of Bernard and Norman; grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Popliger, Hampton Avenue. Kiddush was observed. There was a reception that evening, in the Synagogue Hall which was decorated with white and pink snapdragons, blue irises, and pink, white, and yellow roses; a trellis with sweet peas, palms and standards of flowers. Dr. and Mrs. H. Lupeson, of Cleveland, Ohio; Charles Rapp, of Edmonton, Alta.; and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Green, of Glace Bay, N. S., uncles and aunts of Daniel, were here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hopkins, Bessborough Avenue, entertained about fifteen guests at a party in celebration of the engagement of their youngest daughter, Miss Guldie Hopkins, to Saul Smith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith, Victoria Avenue, whose marriage takes place on December 21, at Shaare Zion Synagogue. The hostess wore a black crepe dress, with a V-shaped neckline, short sleeves, and side-draped skirt; also a white straw hat. Mrs. Smith wore a navy-blue crepe dress, trimmed with rhinestones, which had a round neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves, and a slim skirt; also a pink straw hat. Miss Hopkins, the bride-elect, wore a gold-colored shantung dress, made with a V-shaped neckline, short sleeves, and full skirt; also a white straw hat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Goldin, 4892 Jean Brillant Avenue, entertained for their daughter, Miriam, who was sixteen years old. Miriam is the sister of Dorothy, Michael, and Lee Ann. A birthday cake centred the table. Miriam wore a mauve bengaline dress, with pink carnations. Present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Yoffe, Mr. and Mrs. T. Nadel, Mr. and Mrs. M. Goldin, Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Nadel, all uncles and aunts of Miriam; Michael and Dorothy, brother and sister of Miriam; and Sorel Yellin, Connie Segal, Queenie Greenspoon, Peggy Nadel, Gita Nadel, Myrna Benjamin, Sandra Stoll, Doreen Falovitch, Janice Gold, Eleanor Fried, Doreen Spector, Miriam Sederoff, Krayna Goldman, Sandy Rochmond, Jassica Gelber, Sandra Diamond, Ronda Goodman, Joan Levin, Marilyn Gilletz, Ann Margolese, Shirley Ann Fishman, Caila Gross, Recia Harvey, Barbara Frank, Shirley Nadel, Eleanor Yoffe, Feigie Pothier, Davly Baker, Rhona Silverman, and Elsa Rubin.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Grossman, Maplewood Avenue, entertained at an evening party: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Prosterman, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bernstein, Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Blanshay, Mr. and Mrs. David Felberg, Mr. and Mrs. Moe Sigman, and Mrs. Jack Rohr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wiseman, Hutchison, Kingsl, gave a dinner, with the immediate family present, in celebration of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Tillie Wiseman, whose marriage to Morris Beigleman, son of Mrs. Ida Beigleman, Clark Street, takes place on January 18, at Beth David Synagogue. There were about thirty guests present. The table decoration consisted of three centerpieces of mixed spring flowers. Mrs. Wiseman wore a black taffeta dress; Mrs. Beigleman, a navy-blue crepe dress; and Miss Wiseman, a turquoise-blue silk shantung dress, and a wristlet of red roses.

Miss Claire Segal, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Segal, 5396 Park Avenue, and fiancee of Edward Pottel, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pottel, Carlton Avenue, whose marriage takes place on May 31, at the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, was entertained at a dinner at Ruby Foo's. The hostesses were: Misses Ann Zipperstein, Esplanade Avenue; Ann Bernstein, Park Avenue; Joyce Kornberg, St. Urbain Street; Miriam Shisgal, Linton Avenue; and Betty Boleten, Esplanade Avenue. Miss Segal, the bride-elect, wore a black and white woolen suit, designed with a lapelled collar, long sleeves, and slim skirt; also a white straw hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newman, Beaubien Street East, celebrated the bar-mitzvah of their eldest son, Bernard Peter, who was called to the Reading of the Law at Rosaland Synagogue, Cartier Street. He is the brother of Leonard, aged eight; and Edward, fourteen months; grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Kaufman, Beaubien Street East; and of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newman, de Bullion Street. Kiddush was observed after the ceremony. There was a dinner-dance, in celebration of the occasion, about one hundred and fifty guests being received. Mrs. Newman was in black net over taffeta, designed with a strapless neckline, and full skirt, and worn with a net stole; and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Kaufman was in eggshell-shaded net over taffeta; with a corsage of pink roses; and Mrs. Charles Newman, in pale blue chiffon, with a corsage of pink carnations. Arrangements of variegated seasonal flowers, with palms, formed the decoration. Here for the occasion were: Mrs. Harry Maraynes and Miss Molly Kaufman, of New York; and Mrs. David Wagner, of Burbank, Calif., sisters of Mrs. Walter Newman; Mr. and Mrs. Nat. Felton and Walter Felton, uncle and aunt of Walter Newman; and Adolphe Buchler, all of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Z. Kaufman, the grandparents, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in June of last year.

Max Lupovich, 171 Edgehill Road, Montreal, is treasurer of the Jewish Immigrant Aid Society, which will hold graduation exercises for 700 students of the JIAS night school classes in English, French and citizenship on Sunday, June 8, at 2.30 p.m., in the YM-YWHA, 265 Mount Royal Avenue West. The annual meeting of the JIAS will be held at the same time. Jerry Segall is president. JIAS is a member of the Combined Jewish Appeal.

Robert B. Laxonik, 4895 St. Urbain Street, Montreal, long associated with Neighbourhood House, as leader, boy's worker and supervisor, has been appointed executive director. Arthur P. Pascal, 24 Devon Avenue, is president, Neighbourhood House, a recreation centre for children, is a member agency of the Federation of Jewish Community Services.

Miss Helen Kenigsberg, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kenigsberg, 5877 Esplanade Avenue; and fiancee of Alec Yellin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yellin, Trans Island Avenue, whose marriage takes place on June 28, at the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, was entertained at a tea, at which thirty guests were present, given by Miss Shirley Borrow, Ponsard Avenue. The hostess wore a navy-blue paper taffeta dress, the bodice of which was trimmed with double rows of buttons, with three-quarter-length sleeves, and a full skirt; also a natural straw hat, and corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Kenigsberg wore a navy-blue sheer dress, over taffeta, made with a collared-neckline, short sleeves, and a pleated skirt; also a white straw hat, and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Yellin was in a navy-blue [illegible] suit-dress, styled with a collared-neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves, and a slim skirt; also a white straw hat, and a corsage of red roses. Miss Kenigsberg, the bride-elect, wore a natural-colored silk shantung dress, fashioned with a V-shaped neckline, short sleeves, and a full skirt, with an accordion-pleated front panel; also an aquamarine-blue straw hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Roses, carnations, gladioli, tulips, and sweet peas were combined for table decoration. A presentation was made to the honoree.

Miss Claire Epstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Epstein, Bernard Avenue West; and fiancee of David Singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Singer, Trans Island Avenue, whose marriage takes place on June 19, at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue, was entertained at a tea in celebration of her approaching marriage. The hostesses were Mrs. L. Schachter, Trans Island Avenue, and Mrs. B. Finkelstein, Stuart Avenue, sisters of the groom-elect. Twenty-five guests were present at a tea, at the home of Mrs. Schachter, who wore a navy-blue crepe dress, fashioned with a large, square collar of blue and white stripes; with short sleeves, and a flared skirt. Mrs. Finkelstein wore a checked green velvet suit, styled with a slim skirt, and a vest-effect jacket, worn over a white lace blouse. Mrs. Epstein, mother of the bride-elect, was in a rose-colored woolen suit, designed with a square, black collar; long sleeves, with black cuffs; and a slim skirt; with a white nylon blouse. Mrs. Singer, mother of the groom-elect, was in a blue and white checked suit, with a gold silk stripe woven in the material. It had a V-shaped neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves, and a slim skirt. The honoree, Miss Epstein, wore a crepe dress, stylized with a black and white printed top, with a V-shaped neckline; and a black skirt; with a small printed jacket; and a corsage of red carnations. Variegated spring flowers decorated the table. Silver flatware, service for six, was presented to Miss Epstein.

Hadassah has just concluded an agreement whereby its Hotel Management Institute will be located on the premises of Israel's newest hotel, the Ramat Aviv, in a suburb of Tel-Aviv. The Institute, a two-year junior college which was opened in January 1950, has had its headquarters until now in Hadassah's Brandeis Vocational Center in Jerusalem. Dr. Miriam Freund, Hadassah's vocational education chairman, said the move to Tel-Aviv was made "to better meet the challenge offered by the rapid growth of the hotel industry in Israel."

"I should have gone on a holiday, too!"

"Seems everybody 'round here has a Safety Deposit Box at the B of M."

Of course, you can feel sorry for him if you want to. But there's a limit. Don't help him out by leaving your valuables around the house when you take your vacation this year.

If you have any jewelry, valuable papers, bonds, put them away safely in a B of M Safety Deposit Box. It costs so little . . . less than two cents a day. And you'll learn the full meaning of a carefree holiday.

Why not drop in at your neighborhood B of M branch and rent a Safety Deposit Box now — while you have it in mind?

Hospital Staff Gives Art Exhibit

Doctors and nurses at Beth Israel Hospital, in New York, find painting and sculpture a valuable aid to the art of healing. In the hospital solarium overlooking Stuyvesant Park, Beth Israel's third annual art exhibit was shown to the public for a week.

The therapeutic value to a doctor of painting or modeling, indirectly benefiting the patient, had its most ardent proponent in Dr. Elias Gordon, adjunct radiologist. Dr. Gordon, who is the chief of the X-ray department of Montefiore Hospital, is known for his three-dimensional X-ray work. And to this specialty, he attributes an unusual skill in modeling portrait heads.

The doctor, who is a relatively new recruit among the many "Sunday artists" in the hospital, finds the evenings and week-ends spent on his modeling a welcome change to "the sickness, disease and death that are always with us." What is more, he is a poet and composer as well.

So far, the radiologist has modeled fifty heads, many of them of doctors, and is well on the way to making a sculptural survey of the medical profession. Most of his work has been cast in bronze.

Another eloquent advocate for art as an ally to medicine was Miss Gladys Scott, assistant director of the hospital's Nursing School. Miss Scott, who studies art in the evenings and exhibited two flower pieces, has encouraged student nurses to paint and draw and to see the major art exhibitions. Recently, her charges visited the Museum of Modern Art for the Matisse show and the Metropolitan Museum for the Cezanne show.

A preliminary agreement on copper mining in the Negev was signed between Israel mining industries and the Belgian Continental Mines and Metals Co. Production is expected to begin in 1954. The Belgian company will provide technical advice, experts, blueprints, patents and overall planning. All equipment and exploitation rights will remain in the hands of the Government-sponsored Israel company.

Mrs. H. Estrin, 856 Kingston Road, the bride-elect's sister, assisted in receiving, wearing a dress composed of a white sheer top, having a gold thread throughout, and made with a Chinese neckline, cap sleeves, and full black net skirt. The honouree wore a turquoise-blue silk shantung cocktail dress, fashioned with roll collar, trimmed in lace, short puffed sleeves, and full skirt, having a padded hipline, with a wrist bouquet of white carnations. The table flowers were snapdragons, sweet peas, roses, daffodils, in a centre piece, and white lighted tapers, with six vases of flowers for the guests' tables.

Miss Sylvia Muchmaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Muchmaker, 179 Queen Street East, whose marriage to Melvin King, son of Mrs. P. King, Grace Street, takes place on November 9, at Machzikei Bnai Israel Synagogue, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at Murray House. The hostesses, who received one hundred guests, were: Mesdames King, in a mauve shantung dress, having a V-neckline, short sleeves, and straight skirt, with corsage of pink roses and sweet peas; H. Black, Highbourne Road, in a mauve satin cocktail suit, with corsage of pink roses; and H. Shore, Manning Avenue, wearing a brown gabardine dress-suit, trimmed in white pique, with corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Muchmaker wore a navy-blue crepe dress, having a cape-effect collar lined in pink metallic and caught to one side with a large rhinestone clip; and straight skirt, with corsage of blue tinted roses and sweet peas. The honouree was in a navy-blue silk ribbon-boucle dress, fashioned with high portrait neckline, long sleeves, and straight skirt, with corsage of white roses. Mrs. E. Muchmaker, 100 Queen Street East, the bride-elect's grandmother, assisted in receiving. A miniature pink and blue ribbon umbrella over vari-coloured spring flowers, and pink lighted tapers, decorated the bride's table. Mesdames L. Sobel, S. Sobel, and B. Ginsberg, of Hamilton, were guests.

INSTANT COFFEE
Sealed-in flavor can't fade away!
Flavor can't be boiled away!
All the flavor's in your cup!
NESCAFÉ
Enjoy rich, real coffee flavor...save time, fuss and money. The hearty flavor in *Nescafé is sealed in till the moment you make the coffee. No pot or percolator, no messy coffee grounds. You simply put a teaspoonful of Nescafé in your cup, and add boiling hot water. You save up to 40¢ a pound over regular coffee.
No wonder more people drink Nescafé than all other instant coffees combined.
*Nescafé (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered trade mark of Nestlé's Milk Products (Canada) Limited to designate its soluble coffee product which is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates (dextrins maltose and dextrose) added solely to present the flavor.

CLASS IN COOKERY

BANANA NUT BREAD

two cups sifted flour
two teaspoons baking powder
one-half teaspoon soda three-quarters of a teaspoon salt
one-half cup sugar
one cup chopped nuts
one beaten egg
one-quarter cup salad oil
one cup mashed banana
one tablespoon lemon juice

Sift the dry ingredients together, then add three-quarters of the cup of nuts. Combine the remaining ingredients and add to the dry mixture. Stir only until the flour is moistened. Pour into a greased loaf pan, nine by five inches. Sprinkle the remaining nuts over the top of the loaf and bake in a moderate oven of 350-degree for one hour.

Scrolls Of Bronze May Be Scripture

A pair of tightly rolled bronze sheets with a lengthy text engraved in square Hebrew letters has been found in a cave near the Dead Sea, according to word received by Prof. A. Henry Detweiler of Cornell University, chairman of the Jerusalem School Committee of the American Schools of Oriental Research. The scrolls are now in Jerusalem in the possession of Pere Roland deVaux and Dr. William L. Reed, directors of a French, American and Palestinian expedition to the Dead Sea caves.

The indications are that the sheets may be important Old Testament documents, Professor Detweiler said. In the same region in 1947 were found parchment scrolls with a Hebrew text of the Book of Isaiah and other Biblical manuscripts.

The earlier scrolls were of leather. Because the new sheets are of bronze, Professor Detweiler suggested that they might contain material regarded by the ancients as of the greatest importance. Only a fragment of the text on the tightly rolled metal sheets is visible, according to the report received by Professor Detweiler. Until some technique to unroll the delicate scrolls without shattering them is devised it is impossible to do more than speculate about the find, he said.

However, other scholars have described the discovery as "a most sensational find." Prof. Millar Burrows, Winkley Professor of Biblical Theology at Yale University said it was "surprising, quite new and totally unexpected." The latest Dead Sea expedition was carried out in March by archaeologists of the international party in Jerusalem. The expedition has located and searched about forty caves similar to the one in which the 1947 finds were made.

N.Y. Hospital Spent $6,375,000 In 1951

Mount Sinai Hospital, in New York, issued its ninety-ninth annual report showing that $6,375,000 was spent in 1951 to treat 73,386 persons and maintain one of the largest non-university medical research and education programs in the country.

But a deficit of $120,252 was the largest in the history of the institution, at Fifth Avenue and 100th Street. Grants from the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, the United Hospital Fund, the Greater New York Fund, and smaller sources helped reduce the deficit from $1,960,134, according to Alfred L. Rose, president. That sum was the difference between the operational cost and $3,896,178 paid in by patients.

The operational outlay amounted to $5,556,307. Grants of $518,000 supported research, education and other non-budgetary activities. But expenditures were $752,229 more than those for 1950.

Mr. Rose attributed part of the deficit to a pay increase awarded to the 1,400 employes. He also explained that the eighty-three specialized clinics in the out-patient department two years ago had grown to ninety, with a heavy percentage of free treatment.

Mr. Rose asked that capital donations and legacies be contributed to help support "the ever-expanding services which the enlarged Mount Sinai Hospital will be called upon to supply." The hospital plans to dedicate within a few weeks a new maternity pavilion; the Atran General Laboratory and the Berg Institute of Research.

Ground In Negeb Yields Great Crop

Israeli farmers are harvesting the best crop in the memory of the oldest settlers on a quarter of a million acres in the northern Negeb. The Israelis are harvesting about half of this area for the first time and under a new plan combining cooperative and capitalistic elements.

Work has begun in the rich new fields of barley north of Beersheba by an advance guard of 200 harvester combines which are moving into the Negeb from 119 collective farms, cooperatives and private companies who have leases on parts of the area. Some of the big, red American harvesters, which can be seen chugging slowly along highways, have come all the way from Huleh Valley in northern Israel, says the New York Times.

About half of the groups that have taken leases on this new land are Kibbutzim (collective settlements), 25 per cent are cooperatives and the rest are groups of private farmers or entire villages that have formed companies. The largest lease, 12,000 acres, has been granted to Amir Ltd., a concern of agricultural contractors; the smallest is the 105 acres granted to a group of individual farmers.

As correspondents watched seven harvesters moving over the barley fields outside the ruined Arab village of Baikat el Irr, Reuven Haloni, who is in charge of this entire new farming area for the Ministry of Agriculture, said he expected a minimum of 600,000 tons of grain from the area this year—four-fifths barley and the rest wheat. The plowing of 90,000 more acres of new land began two months ago, he added.

Avigda Kellner, manager of 3,000 acres for an association of chicken farmers, picked up a chunk of soil and declared: "This is called loess soil. It is wonderful. Now we are using it for grain crops but when we get water in here you can grow anything at all on it."

He said that Dorot, a kibbutz about ten miles to the north to which water was piped for the first time early this year, was raising "record crops of beets and everything else." Mr. Kellner came to Palestine from Vienna in 1919.

Comparing the soil of the Negeb to that of the prairies when American settlers first plowed it, he explained that the loess of the Negeb could be made even more productive by increasing the organic matter and by chemical fertilization. Such fertilization, he said, could double the present yield of about 600 pounds of barley to the acre.

MONTREAL MEETINGS

(Additional Montreal Meetings on Pages Four and Thirteen)

• William Hoffman, of Hoffman's, 1472 Peel Street, received from the Gemological Institute of America, in Los Angeles, Cal., a diploma in the theory of gemology. Holders of these diplomas are recognized as the specialists of the gem field, having successfully completed comprehensive four-year courses of study covering all phases of the jewelry business. The courses of the Gemological Institute are the only gemological courses offered anywhere in the world which teach all phases of the science, plus an extensive course on diamonds and precious metals. Students of the G.I.A. currently enrolled represent 17 countries in addition to the United States and Canada. The Institute, unique in the U.S. and in the world was established in 1931 by leading jewelers there and in Canada for the protection of the jeweler and through him the public by the dissemination of knowledge. Graduates of the Gemological Institute, in order to pass examinations following completion of the courses, must be able to correctly identify any precious gemstones or their substitutes and imitations as well as to accurately grade and classify diamonds. Active in the jewelry business since he was 15 years of age, Mr. Hoffman has been a partner with his father for the past six years. Prior to that time he spent 10 years in Australia where he owned a jewelry manufacturing business.

Shabuoth And The Decalogue

The Feast of Weeks or Shabuoth is observed by Jews throughout the world this Friday. Shabuoth commemorates the giving of the Decalogue by God through Moses to the people of Israel. In Reform Synagogues, boys and girls will be confirmed, after a course of study pertaining to the faith of Israel, and on Shabuoth, will pledge their loyalty to the Torah. It is good that through the institution of confirmation, the equality of man and woman in the religious life is thus emphasized. For not only boys but girls as well are called to the Reading of the Torah on that day. We are of the conviction that ultimately Conservative Judaism and even Orthodox Judaism will no doubt adopt some rite which will give equality, religious equality, to the woman in order that she may participate actively in synagogue life.

We rejoice in the dramatic story pertaining to the Decalogue at Sinai. No religious document has exercised a greater influence on moral and social life than the Ten Commandments. In Judaism "the moral code" has ever been recognized as basic. The sages have pointed out that in "the Revelation" the Divine Voice spoke in all tongues. All of nature was wrapped in breathless silence when God addressed himself to Israel and gave Israel the Torah. The ancient teachers regard the day of Revelation equally as important as the day of Creation. For on that day of Torah-giving, there occurred the birth hour of the religion of the spirit. The Revelation was the most remarkable event in the history of humanity.

Many moderns do not believe in the dramatic story of Sinai as related in Scripture. They believe that the Sinaitic Code came not through a revelation from God but through experience. Man lived and experienced and discovered through his record of experience a moral code which results in happiness. Israel, so moderns have professed, has shown a predisposition to moral leadership. From the spiritual genius of the Jew have emerged these great moral truths. Despite the plea of moderns that these Ten Commandments are man-made, hosts of us choose the affirmation found in the authority of God's revelation. Perhaps the very moral chaos of our day is to be traced to the fact that the rationalists and materialists have dethroned God as the motivation for "imitatio dei" and life has become demoralized, mechanized, and despiritualized.

But why waste time in debating the origin of the Decalogue? The fact is that the Ten Commandments stand amidst the ebb and flow of the ages. If science has taught us anything it is the recognition of law in the universe; and even as there exists physical law so equally there operates a moral law in the world. Break the moral law and evil consequences do follow. The wages of sin is death. In the realm of ethics, "as a man soweth so he reapeth." Morality teaches us that we are all tied up with and dependent upon each other. One need only examine the pages of history and to become convinced that evil always descends upon the unrighteous nations or individuals. There is "a power not ourselves that makes for righteousness."

To apprehend the Supreme Mind in the story of revelation we must come to know something of spiritual illumination. As a Jewish teacher I am ever thrilled by the everlasting covenant which God and Israel made at Sinai. Out of this covenant Israel has taken upon itself a mission as the spiritual lightbearer and keeper of the light for all mankind. If only modern Jews would know the meaning of Israel's goal throughout history, then this burden of suffering that comes upon us in historical intervals would become easy. With the covenant at Sinai, everlasting life was planted in the soul of Israel. Israel thus has become an "Am Olam," an eternal people. Tyrants may come and attempt the destruction of the Jew, but the Jew, holding on to the Torah, has managed to stand by the grave of his traducers.

Our great talmudic teachers tell the following charming story. When God gave the Torah on Sinai, at that moment there descended from the heavens "Sefer Vesayof," a book and a sword. These were bound one against the other in combat. And a Heavenly Voice was heard cry: "Choose one or the other! If you choose the 'Sefer', life will be yours; if you choose the sword, death will be yours." Israel chose the book, the Torah, the code of Sinai. Today, in a war between mind and brute force, Israel remains the dramatic symbol of the spirit and the power of the spirit in the world.

The Canadian Jewish Review is still the only Jewish publication in Canada printed in any language reaching the Jewish community which is able to claim membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Woman Led For Fifty Years

Mrs. Setty Swarts Kuhn, for fifty years a leader in the civic, cultural and philanthropic life of Cincinnati, Ohio, died there. She would have been 84 years old on June 18. Born there, she was the widow of Simon Kuhn, Cincinnati banker, who died in 1920.

Mrs. Kuhn was chosen Cincinnati's "outstanding woman of the half century" by the city's Better Housing League several years ago. She was a founder of the League and one of its trustees.

She also was a founder of the Cincinnati branch of the Foreign Policy Association (now the Council of World Affairs), and was active in the Chamber Music Society, Community Garden Association, Losantiville Country Club, Woman's City Club, League of Women Voters, Cincinnati Metropolitan Housing Authority and the former University School.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ivan Fisher, of Wyoming, Ohio; and Mrs. Adolph S. Oko, of 545 West 111th Street, New York; a son, Samuel L. Kuhn, of 125 Park Avenue, New York; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

for the broadening of the Jewish Agency by including individual Jews and organizations that were non-Zionist. It is understood that the Prime Minister has in mind such American Jewish leaders as Henry Morgenthau Jr., who is leading the Israel bond drive; Edward M. M. Warburg, who is leading the United Jewish Appeal; and Jacob Blaustein, president of the American Jewish Committee.

Thus Mr. Ben-Gurion appears to be offering a status somewhat more restricted than what the Congress requested and also to a body that would not be exclusively Zionist. The proposal to enlarge the Jewish Agency was not discussed by the General Council. There is little enthusiasm for the proposal because of the fear that non-Zionists would adulterate the ideology of the movement, but no serious objection to the principle is expected.

Another hurdle that has still to be dealt with is accommodations. At present the school operates in the acutely congested quarters of the former British Pavilion Hospital since it has had no access since 1948 to its school and hospital on Mount Scopus.

While the graduation ceremony was going on workmen were beginning to lay the foundations for a new 530-bed hospital near Ein Kerem. Financed by Hadassah, it will be finished in three years. Around the hospital there will be buildings for the medical faculty and for a school for nurses. Eventually, it is hoped, there will be an entire university city at Ein Kerem, says the New York Times.

Born and educated in New York, Dr. Goodman was graduated from City College in 1915. He received his master of arts from Columbia University in 1919 and his doctorate in English from New York University in 1936. He began his career as a grammar and evening high school teacher in 1915. After a year in the Army, he taught at Townsend Harris High School for three years, joining City College in 1922.

Dr. Goodman was the author of two books, "Narrative Structure and Style" and "Maria Edgeworth, Novelist of Reason." He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Modern Language Association.

Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Lillian R. Goodman.

tendency to "excuse in many of the loyalty investigations and the unreasonable character in much of the Federal and state legislation" that "have intensified the tendency to identify support of unpopular or controversial causes with subversion."

The report held that proposed civil rights legislation in the U.S. received a setback as a result of the defeat of "many supporters of anti-discrimination legislation in the 1950 elections for the Senate and the House of Representatives, state governorships and legislatures, and the changes in the personnel of the United States Supreme Court in recent years."

The survey noted that "to a considerable degree, the increase in lawlessness must be viewed as a reaction to the growing strength of civil rights forces," adding that "those who in the past have relied chiefly on public apathy are evidently beginning to feel the need for more aggressive tactics, a need generated in great part by their recognition that they are fighting what must ultimately be a losing battle."

When the subway was opened to make Coney Island the oceanfront mecca of the masses, Feltman's had to withstand the competition of quick-lunch frankfurter and soft-drink stands which sprang up by the hundreds. In 1946 the business was sold by Charles L. and Alfred F. Feltman, sons of the founder, and by Charles A. Feltman, a grandson.

The buyers were Bernie M. Bechhold, executive vice president of the Savoy-Plaza Hotel; Alvan Kallman and Harry Socoloff. They added a steel and concrete cafeteria building, refrigeration room and beach at the corner of the property on the Boardwalk at West Tenth Street.
